About Us: American Gene Technologies is a gene & cell therapy company with a technology platform that spans HIV, cancer, and monogenic diseases. Our COVID-19 testing lab provides same-day and overnight RT-PCR testing for clients across the DMV, serving travelers, schools, and the occasional embassy. Every client we connect with receives a faster turnaround time on their COVID-19 RT-PCR tests, and adds to the revenue stream that flows into our phase 1 trial for AGT103-T. We are always looking for dedicated, passionate individuals who can think critically and creatively to help us bring cures to the world.

Job Description: American Gene Technologies is seeking a driver to help us support our expanding COVID-19 testing operations. We are a gene & cell therapy company with a treatment in phase 1 human trials that is designed to be curative of HIV. Our COVID-19 RT-PCR testing lab helps us fund our research while raising the standard for COVID-19 testing in the DC metropolitan area. We offer 8 hour turnaround time on RT-PCR tests instead of 2-5 days without rush fees, so new clinics switch to us every week. Your job will be to optimize a sample collection route to get samples from all our partners (who are located all around the DC/NoVA area) to the lab.

Candidates should feel comfortable driving in the local area, being friendly to the clients when picking up samples, and wearing PPE when handling samples. This position is full-time with consistent weekend work. Candidates are expected to have a clean driving record/background check, ability to pass a 7-hour biohazard transport online course and have a reliable means of transportation.

Starting hourly pay and additional mileage compensation are highly competitive. Applicants seeking to survey the biotech industry and learn about genetic medicine will enjoy the work environment here. We are looking to fill this position and get the right candidate working ASAP, so don’t hesitate to reach out.
